OPENING WORDS

UNISON AFFIRMATION (read by congregation) N. W. Lovely

Though our knowledge is incomplete, our truth partial, and our love imperfect,
We believe that new light is ever waiting to break through individual hearts and minds to enlighten the ways of men,
That there is mutual strength in willing cooperation,
And that the bonds of love keep open the gates of freedom.

OPENING WORDS

HYMN No. 236

UNISON AFFIRMATION

Into this house of light we come to seek that which is just and to find that which is good, and here we remember those whose lives are darkened by the greed and wrong of others. We have not purged the commerce of our time of those harsh ways that hinder the hopes and dreams of many. In this house of peace we remember wars and rumors of wars; we have made but feeble effort to understand the peoples of the world and to foster peace among the nations. In this house of joy we remember all sorrowing and troubled folk. Let us here be gathered into a common power of good will which shall issue in lasting peace and larger right.

OPENING WORDS

HYMN No. 163 "Can I See Another's Woe?"

Can a father see his child Weep, nor be with sorrow filled?
Can a mother sit and hear Infant groan, an infant fear?
Can I see another's woe And not be in sorrow too?
Can I see a falling tear, And not feel my sorrow's share?
Can I see another's grief, And not seek for kind relief?
No, No! never can it be! Never, never can it be!

CHILDREN'S STORY

HYMN No. 321 "Spring Has Now Unwrapped the Flowers"

Spring has now unwrapped the flowers, Day is fast reviving;
Life in all her growing powers Towards the light is striving;
Gone the iron touch of cold, Winter time and frost time;
Seedlings, working through the mold, Now make up for lost time.
All the world with beauty fills, Gold the green enhancing;
Flowers make merry on the hills, Set the meadows dancing.
Earth puts on her dress of glee; Flowers and grasses hide her.
Go we forth in charity, Brothers all beside her.

PRELUDE: "Ride of the Valkyries," Wagner

OPENING WORDS: "Prayer for Freedom from Disturbing Emotions," David Head

WELCOME

RESPONSIVE READING: No. 372, "Let Us Worship," Kenneth L. Patton

Let us worship with our eyes and ears and fingertips; let us love the world through heart and mind and body.

The rushing of the wind and the pouring of the sun gather us together with blessing and comfort.

The colors flowing in the field and sky, light over eyes, over faces, the windy colors and the colors of warm, tideless gardens, heal our spirits and feed our hungers.

The lifting sounds of trees and grasses, the noises of men and women eddy into songs of human togetherness.

The purity of birds singing, the music of throat and brass and wood, these are golden to the ear lovely for beauty.

We feed our eyes upon the mystery and revelation in the faces of our brothers and sisters.

We seek to know the wistfulness of the very young and the very old, the wistfulness of men in all times of life.

We seek to understand the shyness behind arrogance, the fear behind pride, the tenderness behind clumsy strength, the anguish behind cruelty.

We live a thousand lives as we walk through the city.

All life flows into a great common life, if we will only open our eyes to our companions.

We listen to the secret voices of poetry and know that all men share our yearning.

All are lonely as we are lonely, and all men need the sure presence of those who love and are loved.

Let us worship, not in bowing down, not with closed eyes and stopped ears.

Let us worship with the opening of all the windows of our beings, with the full out-stretching of our spirits.

Life comes with singing and laughter, with tears and confiding, with a rising wave too great to be held in the mind and heart and body, to those who have fallen in love with life.

Let us worship, and let us learn to love.

PRELUDE: "Atmosphere," by Ligeti, from "2001"

OPENING WORDS: from "The Loose Leaf Bible"

HYMN: #62, "Man is the Earth"

Man is the earth upright and proud,	Come, lift your voices,
In him the earth is knowing.	Fill the skies,
The winds are music in his mouth,	With your exultant singing.
In him its rivers flowing.	Now dedicate your minds and hearts,
The sun is man's hearth-fire;	Beauty and order bringing.
Warm with the earth's desire,	Your labor is your strength;
And with its purpose strong,	Your love will win at length;
He sings earth's pilgrim song.	Your minds will form a plan
In man the earth is growing.	To draw man unto man.
	His day is just beginning.
